The compact IP66-rated protective housing finds its best applications in cost-sensitive installations in restricted areas, where video surveillance is meant to be used as deterrent, without obstructing the environment. It is suitable for AXIS M11 Network Camera Series. AXIS T93E05 Protective Housing is perfect for both indoor and outdoor cost-sensitive installations and wide-ranging applications, such as office buildings, gate surveillance, retail stores and service stations. Quick and easy installation thanks to Power over Ethernet connection. The network cable is further protected in the wall mount for tamper protection.
